TXT COFFEE TABLE

How can we materialize an abstract concept of a brand in a design piece? The TXT coffee table is an object that reflects the main concepts of the brand. NOIXE texture was created as a brand ADN, a unique pattern that derives from the conceptual principles of brand philosophy. This digital noise is created using a generative algorithm that creates multiple variations from the basic principle. A special Engineering stone was the material chosen to materialize the idea due to its technical properties, strength and easy maintenance.

All parts are made of the same material contributing to a perfect technical and aesthetic harmony.

NOIXE, the noise pattern, developed specifically for techxture. A visual detail that appeals to our senses.

Stone as structure, noise as natural pattern. Exploratory design.
